MOTOR TOLL IS 46; 2 COLLISIONS HERE

WEEK-END AUTO CASUALTIES OVER U. S. ARE HEAVY.

MRS. AGNES WARE HURT

73-Year-Old Burlington Junction Woman Thrown From Car—8 in Collision Near Maryville.

Grade crossing accidents and other auto smash-ups claimed forty-six lives in the United States over the weekend.

Indiana led with 12, Illinois was second with 7, New York was third with 6, and Georgia fourth with 5. The totals of other states were: Missouri, 4; Kansas, 3; Minnesota, 2; and Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Tennessee, and New Jersey, one each.

Nodaway County was the scene of two auto collisions yesterday afternoon, which resulted in one person being seriously injured, four others slightly hurt and at least six other persons badly shaken up. The two head-on collisions happened at cross roads where it was impossible to see an approaching car very far in advance.

Mrs. Agnes Ware, 73 years old, of Burlington Junction, is in a serious condition today as a result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon in a car collision about four miles southeast of Burlington Junction. A deep gash from her left eye to the back of her head was cut, making it necessary to take twenty-six stitches.

The collision occurred at a road intersection, the Ware care, a Ford touring, containing James C. Ware and son, Junior, and Miss Lenora Kay Ware and his mother, Mrs. Agnes Ware, coming from the south, collided with a Buick, driven by Maurice Jacoby of Darlington, who was coming from the west. Neither driver apparently saw the other until it was too late to stop and the collision turned the Ware car entirely around in the road, throwing Mrs. Ware and Miss Ware from the car. Miss Ware sustained minor bruises, but none of the other occupants of either car were injured.

Mrs. Ware was taken to Burlington Junction by Henry Nicholas for medical attention. She spent a restless night, according to relatives, but seemed somewhat better this morning. It is not known yet whether she sustained any internal injuries.

Maurice Jacoby, driving the Buick, was accompanied by his wife and son, and were returning home from Burlington Junction, where they had been visiting at the home of Robert Caudle.

Eight persons narrowly escaped serious injury about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when an Overland car, driven by Guy Bowers of St. Joseph, and containing his wife and two small daughters, collided with a Ford car, driven by Robert Lynch, and containing Lee Kenney and Miss Edith Dwyer and Miss Edna Nicholas of Maryville, at the corner just west of the Bovard corner.

Mr. Lynch suffered a severe gash about three inches long and two inches deep on the inside of his right knee and other bruises, Miss Nicholas a cut almost through her lower lip and bruised limb, and Miss Dwyer, a bruise on her face below the eyes and a nervous shock. Mrs. Gower was the only one injured in the other car, sustaining some bad cuts and bruises. She is at the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Neuens of Maryville today.

Both of the cars were badly damaged, the Ford being almost demolished. According to those, who witnessed the accident, Mr. Gowers admitted that he was travelling at a rather high rate of speed coming from the north and failed to see the Lynch car coming around the corner.

Lad Gets Fingers in a Lawn Mower

Beuing Hunt, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hunt of Maryville, sustained a painful injury yesterday afternoon when he caught two fingers of his left hand in a lawn mower. The second finger was cut to the bone near the first joint and the next finger cut rather badly. It was not thought today that amputation of the finger would be necessary.

Mayor W. O. Garrett and J. W. Qualls, engineer of the water plant, went to St. Joseph to get some repairs made on the machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bailey of Maryville, received word today of the death of their grandson, Bailey Protzman, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Drew Protzman of Casper, Wyo. MARYVILLE NEEDS COMMUNITY HOUSE

ACCORDING TO ANSWERS TO QUESTIONNAIRES

JOY RIDING CONDEMNED

"From the answers to questionnaires sent out to representative persons of Maryville, our city is in need of paving, more cottages for homes and a municipal open-air audftorium," said the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass in his address on "What's the matter with Maryville" at the Christian church last night.

The sermon last night was based on the answers to questionnaires sent out to a number of representative persons in Maryville and vicinity. The questions asked were as follows: "What do you believe to be the greatest need of Maryville?, What sin, in your judgment, is working the greatest harm in Maryville? What do you think of the idea for an open-air auditorium for Maryville, and how should the same be financed? Have you any further suggestions for the good of Maryville?"

Among the answers to the first question were:

"Every man a booster for church and Maryville."

"More interest in church. Better attendance by the men.'

"A better understanding of the service that Maryville may extend to the people of this section of the state and a fuller realization of the obligation that this great opportunity presents."

"Civic pride."

"A larger measure of industry—less play."

"More paved streets and cement sidewalks. The two blocks near the postoffice should be paved and a new walk to the Burlington station should be put in."

"Street cars and manufacturing establishments."

"Professionally, a lot of modest, neat cottages, for rental at reasonable rates for people to live in, Spiritually, less sociality and more spirituality."

Some of the answers to the second, as to the greatest sin in Maryville, were as follows:

"Indifference on the part of professed Christians, in letting others carry the load, both in matters of church programs and in church finances."

"Joy riding and pool rooms."

"Dance and pool halls."

"The free use of the automobile, and no effort upon the part of the parents to curb joy riding".

'Knocking against the improvement of Maryville".

Regarding the proposed open-air auditorium and methods of financing it, some of the answers were:

"One of the greatest things for Maryville".

"Make it an all-year 'round building to be used by lodges, etc".

"I would favor a community building, but not an open-air building, financed by life memberships without memberships without interest".

"I would favor this plan and suggest paying for it by public subscriptions".

"A good idea. In addition to uses named, it shall be used for revivals of all churches. It should belong to

THREE-FOLD APPEAL OF CHRISTIANITY

CAN STAND ANY TEST

Appeals To Conscience, Intellect and Heart—Truth Will Reveal God, Dr. Curl Says

"Christianity appeals to the intellect, conscience and heart," said Dr. O. L. Curl in his address on "The Three-fold appeal of Christianity" at the union church services last night.

"Christianity can stand up under any intellectual test that can be made of it," he continued. "Christ will meet us on the plane of intellect. God does not reveal truth miraculously, but He leads us to an apprehension of the truths by working through the faculties of our mind. He says to us, 'How readest thou?' We need not be afraid of losing Christ in an honest pursuit of truth, as it always leads to Christ."

Dr. Curl said that Christianity appealed to the conscience also. He declared that anyone who wished to test the merits of Christianity could do it through prayer.

"Prayer is the reaching up of the soul for God," he said. "God is truth, so prayer helps us to gain truth. When we go to church, we always get a new vision of truth and there comes a call to a new duty or a new consecration. If we do not answer this call, we will lost our fellowship with Christ. But we can never gain truths unless we have an honest conscience."

Christianity also appeals to the heart, Dr. Curl asserted. He said that some of the great doctors have recognized the fact that medicine cannot do its work when the conscience of the person is troubling him. However, when the conscience is clear, health has been restored, Dr. Curl added.

"Christ won his way into man's hearts because people were in his heart. That explains the success of a Christian worker—he loves folks."

An orchestra under the direction of C. D. Kutschinski gave two selections at the union services. The Rev. Joseph Cooper gave the scripture reading and the invocation was pronounced by Dr. C. C. James. The Rev. B. F. Cline pronounced the benediction. Miss Marie Cloud sang a solo.

250 HEAR KLAN LECTURER SPEAK

A PATRIOTIC ADDRESS

Organization Not Anti-Catholic, Anti-Jew, He Said, But Opposed to Excess Immigration.

Yesterday afternoon the Reverend Jack Bates, chaplain, a Methodist minister from Kansas City, lectured upon Klanism in the court house yard and about two hundred and fifty people were in attendance.

The beginning of his address dealt with the effects of the world war and how in this new era we, as Americans had a serious matter to deal with.

In order to add color to his address chaplain Bates told of some of his own personal experiences in the world war and the influences he could detect which were not only good but many bad. It was in such a time as this that the organization which he represented sprang anew into prominence.

Some of these evils include the promiscuous use of slang, the learning of many American boys to kill and use a gun so that now these same boys have turned to robbing for a living. These are live issues and issues which must be met squarely and face to face, he declared. Continuing he said:

"In the latest census reports it was shown that America is going onto the reverse side of the native born percentage. There are more foreign born in America today than there are native. All of these men have a vote. Many of them can not read and write the American language. Are we as Americans going to allow foreigners to foreignize America or are we going to Americanize them? It is for this reason that the K. K. K. wishes to restrict immigration in a measure from coming to America."

Chaplain Bates went into detail to describe how he first became a member of the organization and also in justifying the use of secrecy in its work. He added, however, that there was no secrecy in the work of a national benefit.

He told of the work the Klan was doing, its objects and aims. He said that the klan was not anti-Catholic anti-Jew or anti-negro, but wished to reserve America for Americans. That no dominating force in the old world was to rule this nation and there would be no 'isms except Americanism.

He told that the reason the klan had made enemies of the Catholic church was because it favored free schools and the doing away of church schools until the eighth grade, also that the Bible was to be taught on a non-sectarian basis in the public school.

Chaplain Bates made references to the speech at Topeka where the state officials plan to stop the address although this would be in direct violation of the freedom of speech. He said that the klan was trying to assist the officials in their work rather than hindering them.

He closed his address with a eulogy to America and to the American flag, which brought numerous applauses from his audience.

Membership cards were passed out among the men and women after the talk. A great number of people came to the front to shake hands with Mr. Bates at the close of his speech.

Only one serious outbreak was reported. One man was killed and another fatally injured at Neuw, Reppan, when an attempt was made to stone the jail.

HARDING IS WORSE, CANCELS HIS TOUR

CONSULTATION OF PHYSICIANS HELD THIS MORNING.

HIS TEMPERATURE 101

Pulse Was 118 and Respiration 33—A Heart Specialist and Stomach Specialist in Consultation.

San Francisco, July 30. — At 11 o'clock this morning President Harding's physicians issued the following bulletin on his condition:

"The President had a fairly comfortable night with several hours of sleep. His temperature at 9 a. m. was 101. His pulse was 118 and respiration 33. He had dominal symptoms following digestive disturbances which he experienced while on the boat and is now localized in the gall bladder region."

San Francisco, Calif., July 30—President Harding's illness has become so serious that he cannot continue his tour.

This was as far as physicians would go early today in regar dto his condition.

His condition is so serious, however, that his entire trip has been abandoned and a consultation was called in the Presidential suite at the Palace Hotel.

The physicians conferred for two hours. Among those called in was a noted heart specialist and a noted stomach specialist. When the consultation was concluded at 1:20 o'clock this morning the consulting doctors declined to issue any statement or make any comment upon the President's condition.

Shortly before the consultation of physicians was called, Dr. C. E. Sawyer issued a statement which said:

"New symptoms arising during the day indicate complications in the case of the President. A consultation of physicians has been called. After this consultation has been completed bulletins will be issued regularly for the information of the public."

What the new symptoms were Dr. Sawyer declined to state. It was considered important that Dr. Charles M. Cooper, noted heart specialist, had been called in. His presence was interpreted as meaning that the President's heart had been affected following his illness from ptomaine poisoning when stricken last Friday. The illness, coming after forty days and nights of constant travel, is believed to have reduced the President's strength.

The phase of the President's condition, stressed in the meager communication from the medical experts, was his weakness. It was pointed out that President Harding has undergone a severe strain in the forty days since he left White House on June 20.

The travel, together with his speaking and handshaking, the effect of the crab-meat poisoning, and the administering of purgative to rid his system of the poison, combined with the fact that since Friday he has had very little food, all have tended to weaken him.

The President spent all day Sunday in bed with a trained nurse in constant attendance. Physicians said today that he would continue to remain in bed until such time as it may be considered he has sufficient strength to stand the long overland journey back to Washington without suffering ill effects.

At 11 o'clock last night the President's physician announced that the remainder of the trip had been abandoned.

Dr. Hubert M. Work, secretary of the interior, said at 7:30 o'clock a. m., Pacific time today, President Harding had "rested very poorly last night."

The President's indisposition is attributed primarily to eating crabs on the Transport Henderson, while he was on his way through Puget Sound from Vancouver to Seattle. These crabs, the large Alaskan variety, were served at the presidential table on Thursday.

School Fund Short $1,250,000 of Last Year

Jefferson City, Mo., July 30—When the state school moneys for the present year are set apart by the State Superintendent of Public Schools, between August 1 and 15, it will be discovered that the total sum is short of last year about $1,250,000. This estimate was made by State Treasurer L. D. Thompson today.

Last year the state distributed to the public schools the sum of $5,132,561. The balance in the state school fund June 1, 1923, was $8,577,517. June 1 is the date upon which the distribution is based. There may be some additions to the fund, but the State Treasurer is quite certain that his estimate is approximately correct. Asked for a reason for existing conditions, he said, that the 1921 Legislature, in its anxiety to reduce taxation, had passed laws reducing the taxes on incomes, corporation franchises, the inheritance tax, etc., and that most of these laws did not become operative until the present year and meantime the last Legislature had passed some laws calculated to lessen the receipts from which the public schools derive their state aid.

Kansas City Star Writes of Croy

The following story, together with a pen sketch of Homer Croy, appeared on the literary page of the Kansas City Star Saturday night:

"Here is the Missouri native son who 'perpetrated' the anonymous novel, 'West of the Water Tower.' Croy really had no explanation for his temporary anonymity. He proved it wasn't fear when he recently came home to Maryville, walked down Main street as big as you please, stood in front of the drug store on one foot and boldly admitted to the folks that he was the culprit."

HARDING IS WORSE, CANCELS HIS TRIP

That night President Harding had severe pains in his stomach and a generally disagreeable time. Yesterday when he arrived at Seattle on the Henderson he was still suffering cramping pains, and was considerably fatigued from loss of sleep.

Although his physician advised that he go to bed, the President insisted upon carrying out his Seattle program.

Although the President looked tired during his stay in Seattle, only a few of those of his official party realized that he was ill. He had difficulty in delivering his addresses there, but from all outward appearances, was in good physical shape, except that he felt slightly fatigued. When he reached his train at Seattle, at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, the President went to bed. During the night, he had severe cramps and diarrhoea and Gen. Sawyer was called from his drawing room on the presidential train to attend. Gen. Sawyer administered relief thruout the night. Saturday morning the President was quite weak, and realizing that he could not afford to take chances, consented to remain in bed. Several members of the President's party, who also partook of the Alaska crabs, suffered somewhat from pains in the stomach, but none of them was so severely indisposed as the President.

President Harding did not share the belief that his illness was due to eating fresh crabs or crabs supposed to be fresh. He attributed his attack of ptomaine poisoning to some canned food that he ate while on his way to Seattle aboard the Henderson. Secretary Work agrees with the President and said so in a speech he delivered to a large crowd at Grants Pass.

Washington, July 30—Official announcement of the cancellation of President Harding's plans for a trip to the Panama canal was made by the White House this afternoon, based upon a telegram from Geo. B. Christion, Jr., the President's secretary, from San Francisco that no decision had yet been reached upon the time of his return to Washington.

Vulgamott Case Was Reversed

Cupreme Court In Decision Says Vulgamott Was Guilty Of Contributory Negligence In Accident

The supreme court in a decision given last week in the case of Charles Vulgamott against the Wabash railroad says that the evidence show Vulgamott was guilty of contributory negligence in riding a freight car and that the Kansas City Court of Appeals had erred in reversing and remanding the case for a new trial and that the case should have been reversed outright.

The Vulgamott-Wabash case has been tried twice in the circuit court here. The first time Vulgamott secured a verdict for $4,000 and Judge Dawson set the verdict aside and granted a new trial. Vulgamott then took an appeal to the Kansas City Court of Appeals, and that court affirmed Judge Dawson's decision and sent the case back for new trial. On the second trial here, Vulgamott secured a verdict for $4,000 again. The railroad company then took an appeal to the Kansas City Court of Appeals and that court reversed and remanded the case back on an error in an instruction. Believing this ruling was incorrect, Vulgamott took the case to the supreme court on a writ of certiori, and the decision of that court was announced Saturday.

Vulgamott was injured in an accident while riding in a freight car with his household goods and some horses belonging to him. The car he was in came to a sudden stop in the stock yards near Burlington Junction and a horse fell on Vulgamott.

MARYVILLE NEEDS COMMUNITY HOUSE

the city and be cared for by the city. The Chamber of Commerce should raise the money by popular subscriptions. Let's get it ready by October 1.

"Not practicable. Could not be properly controlled. Better for a municipal rock pile for the exercise of a swarm of human leaches who know enough to suck cigarettes and subsist—well, who knows how?

Plenty of club rooms, lodges and churches now for those who might and should be proper beneficiaries of a suggested auditorium."

Some of the answers to the question, Have you any further suggestions for the good of Maryville" were as follows:

"Maryville, possibly not a perfect city, but, I think, will compare favorably with any city its size in the country. Officers should put a stop to 'jay walking' on the part of the pedestrians and 'jay driving' on the part of autoists."

"A publicity campaign should be had for the upbuilding of the State Teachers College and our public schools, which would invite new residents to Maryville—the best home town in the state."

"Creation of a public feeling of confidence in the law, and a demand for rigid enforcement."

"Provide some sort of entertainment or employment for our young people."

In concluding his sermon, the Reverend Mr. Snodgrass said there are not many towns in Missouri where the church has a stronger hold on the community. He said that Maryville has a good church organization with which to work out improvements for the betterment of the community.

Business Better in Tenth District

Volume Makes New Records, Says Report of Federal Reserve Bank.

Kansas City, July 30.—Business in general in the tenth federal reserve district was maintained at a higher level in the first half of 1923 than in the corresponding period last year, the volume in many lines surpassing previous high records, declares the monthly review issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. The tenth district comprises Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming.

Although the reports of wholesale and retail houses reflect in unusual degree of caution in buying, the review states, it is evident that trade in June and throughout the half year was at a higher level than in the corresponding periods in 1922.

With crop prospects improved, the outlook for fall and winter trade is described as good.

"The 1923 wheat crop, while less than last year, is considered adequate for market requirements, generally of good quality, and is now moving through market channels in fair volume at prices below those of a year ago," says the report. "All growing crops were reported greatly benefitted by the abundant rains of May and June, so that the official July forecasts were for an unusually good all-around year of agricultural production and more widely divirsified than for several years."

Movements of livestock from farms and ranges have in most instances broken previous records for the first half of a year reflecting in increase in production of animals for meat, according to the review. While prices are down as compared with those prevailing since the world war, the livestock industry is reported in generally good condition.

Reports from the leading industries of the district, such as mining, petroleum production and refining, flour milling, meat packing and many lines of manufacturing, are said to reflect exceptionally heavy operations.

Building operations during the first half of the year were the largest for any six months period, the report states. The figures for cites of the district show an increase of 14.5 per cent in the number of buildings and an increase of 31.3 per cent in estimated cost of construction over the first six months of 1922.

Many Working Way In Holister School

Presbyterians School Offers Opportunities For Ambitious Boys and Girls To Secure Education

Branson, Mo., July 30—Ten girls and six boys were working this summer at The School of the Ozarks, located one and one-half miles from Hollister, to pay for their tuition next year.

During the school year there are one hundred boarders and twenty-five regulars and day students. This is a school where most of the students work their way through. Only 20 per cent pay their way. The boys work on the farm and the girls work about the house and getting meals.

The school is maintained by the Presbyterian churches in Missouri. These churches give 7 per cent of their benevolent collections toward the upkeep of the school.

It was started in Forsyth in 1907, but in 1915 it was destroyed by fire and instead of rebuilding the Board of Trustees purchased the property of the Maine Hunting and Fishing Club at Hollister which consisted of 208 acres.

For the first few years all eight grades of the grammar school were taught and as many high school classes as were necessary. The demand for high school classes grew and the lower work was partially discontinued, but at present only the eighth grade and the four years of high school are taught. The board is looking to the establishment of a junior college as soon as finances and conditions justify. The school is on the accredited list.

About 50 percent of its graduates go to higher institutions of learning. The majority going to the Southwest Missouri Teachers College at Springfield.

Miss Isabelle Bradley of New Haven, Conn is the guest of Miss Mary Gram. Miss Bradley will spend two weeks in Maryville.

A marriage license was issued today to Henderson Aley of Maryville who will marry Miss Harriett Toomay of Braymer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Vance of Oklahoma City, Okla., announce the birth of a son on July 27, whom they have named Edwin Campbell. Mr. Vance is a brother of Mrs. Joe Cornell.

WILL BE ENTITLED TO REFUND ON ROADS

STATEMENT ISSUED AS TO POLICY OF HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

CAN BUILD STATE ROADS

At the Present Time in Advance of Building Program — Does Not Apply Here.

The policy of the Missouri State Highway Commission with reference to refunding counties and civil subdivisions for work previously done or now contemplated to be done under the centennial road law is explained in a statement issued by B. H. Pierpmeier, chief engineer:

It is obvious that under the Centennial Road Law and with the present amount of revenue available the State Highway Commission cannot complete at a very early date the state road system. In anticipation of such a condition, the Centennial Road Law provides for cooperation of the counties and road districts with the state. As such cooperation will materially aid the state in hastening the completion of a state road system, the State Highway Commission adopts the following policy:

Section 33 of the Centennial Road Law provides that where hard surfaced roads, financed in whole or in part by counties or other civil subdivisions, are on the routes of the state highway system, and are suitable in the judgment of the Commission to form a part of such state highway system as established by said law, the Commission will take over such roads and will reimburse said counties or other civil subdivisions for the expenditure they have made by building additional roads in said counties or districts connecting with the state system. The value of the roads will be appraised as of January 1, 1923, or date of acceptance of the road thereafter and an amount proportional to the money invested by the county or civil subdivision in the improvement will be set up as a credit on the books of the State Highway Department and will so remain until a refund in the form of additional roads has been made to such counties or other civil subdivisions equal to the credit for the aforesaid hard surfaced roads, after the present state bond issue system in the respective counties or civil subdivisions is completed.

Therefore, any county or civil subdivision which has built all or part of its state roads under former laws is entitled to a refund in additional roads. Provided, that such road or roads, in the opinion of the State Highway Commission are suitable to be used as a part of the state road system.

The preliminary estimates of the State Highway Department for the apportionment of bond issue funds to the various counties of the state have been made on the basis of the estimated cost of building the roads in the various counties and for types of roads which the State Highway Commission intends to build on the respective routes, disregarding the type of road that has been built by the county or district. Any county or civil subdivision that has built all or any part of its state roads, which can in the judgment of the Commission be utilized as part of the state road system will receive allotments from the sale of state road bonds the same as if such roads had not been built. Therefore, any county or civil subdivision that has built all or any portion of its state roads will have its state road system completed at an earlier date than those counties or districts that have not improved any of their state roads and will be entitled to a refund in additional roads connecting with the present state system at an earlier date.

Section 34 of the Centennial Road Law provides that any county or other civil subdivision having funds of its own arising from a road tax or bond issue may expend said funds in the building of the state road system within said county or other civil subdivision.

Therefore, any county or civil subdivision that wishes to build all or a portion of its state primary roads, under the Centennial Road Law in advance of the Highway Commission's building program, is entitled to requisition state primary money as rapidly as the same is made available from the sale of state road bonds and to the full amount of the cost of building such roads.

Any county or civil subdivision that wishes to improve all or any portion of its state secondary system, under the Centennial Road Law, in advance of the Highway Commission's building program, is entitled to requisition the allotment made to such counties from the sale of state road bonds. The amount of refund to any county or civil subdivision for the work it may do on secondary roads is limited at this time, by the State Highway Commission to $6,000 per mile, on account of the limited funds made available under the Centennial Road Law.

All work done by counties or civil subdivisions in the building of primary or secondary roads for the state under the Centennial Road Law must be under the supervision of the State Highway Commission in full compliance with its plans and specifications and in accordance with the program of the said State Highway Commission in its building of the state system. The location of the proposed improvement and the type of pavement must first be submitted to the Commission for its approval.

In no case will a refund in cash or in additional roads be made for an amount greater than the cost of a road of the type which the State Highway Commission would build. The Commission also reserves the right to specify the installments of bonds from which the cash refund to the county will be made, such action depending upon the importance the section of the road selected by the county or civil subdivision for improvement bears to the state highway system as a whole.

Accordingly, any county or civil subdivision that wishes to have a state road, whether primary or secondary, built under the Centennial Road Law, at an earlier date than is possible for the State Highway Commission so to do, because of the limited funds that become available each year from the sale of state road bonds, should get in communication with the State Highway Commission so that complete arrangements may be made concerning the desired construction and future refund.

Committee Appointed to Settle Strikes

Harrison, Ark., Citizens Also Discuss Municipal Problems Of Importance—Meet Once a Week

Harrison, Ark., July 30—A committee composed of five tax payers of Harrison has taken over the work of the committee of twelve that handled the railroad shop strike situation during the last ten days of January. One night each week they meet and consider questions of municipal importance and question any former striker that wants to come back.

The former committee was made up of a representative of each county through which the Missouri and North Arkansas Railroad ran and these numbered twelve. The committee is now composed of a retired lawyer, groceryman, dentist, drygoods merchant and a fruit farmer.

The town is guarded and patrolled by eight citizens of Harrison who apprehend strangers loitering around the town after dark. The guard is composed of 240 citizens, each man belongs to a squad that serves one night during the month. The squads are under the direction of George McKinney a clerk to the maintenance engineer of the M & N A Railroad Company.

According to a citizen of Harrison all the strikers have left town, but not at the request of the Citizens Committee. Very few have attempted to return; for the committee has advised them that it is to their best interests to stay away.

Harrison has gone under a transformation since the railroad trouble. The railroad seems to be getting along better. It is now making more than enough money to pay the interest on its indebtedness which was not done before. Harrison is strictly now an open shop town.

"The Old Homestead" to Show at Empire

Famous Picture Starring the Popular Theodore Roberts Here Wednesday and Thursday

The phrase "all star" has been much abused, but the cast of "The Old Homestead" which comes to the Empire theatre Wednesday and Thursday may truthfully be said to be of that calibre. Theodore Roberts, George Fawcett, T. Roy Barnes, Fritzi Ridgway, Harrison Ford, Kathleen O'Connor, James Mason, Ethel Wales and others make up a list that is hard to surpass.

This Paramount picture is based on Denman Thompson's famous play in which that celebrated actor appeared for thirty-two years, but is far more extensive in character and presents a great drama with plenty of comedy and a smashing climax.

The story is familiar—how the son of Uncle Josh is falsely accused of theft and goes away to meet with stirring adventure and finally to be restored to his home and sweetheart. But there is far more than that to the story. There is adventure, love, human character in abundance, humor that is rich and spontaneous and pathos that is deep and convincing. Tears and laughter abound.

James Cruze directed with discretion and sympathy, this great story which was adapted by Perley Poore Sheehan and Frank E. Woods, scenarized by Julien Josephson and supervised by Walter Woods.

Sturm Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Flynn and children, Dorothy and Edward, of Kansas City will motor here Tuesday evening to spend ten days with Mrs. Flynn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Sturm. They will be accompanied by Mr. Flynn's sister, Miss Helen Flynn of Kansas City.

To My Friends and Customers:

July 30, 1923.

I take great pleasure in inviting you to call in the store and see my display of School Supplies before the summer term ends.

I have no hesitation in saying that never before has such a wonderful showing of school supplies been made any where as I am showing this year, and you will find many new items I have never stocked before. If you are going to teach this winter I want you to have one of my new large illustrated school supply catalogues that you can use in ordering from time to time. This catalogue is on the press now but will be off in time for you to get your copy before you leave.

Permit me to again call your attention to the matter of being able, while here, to come in and look the various items over which is much better than having to order from catalogue.

Thanking you for the fine patronage you have extended me this summer and soliciting your future business in the same friendly courteous manner, I am,
